

Be Proud of Your Suit

There's a certain pride that you can rightfully take in the clothes you wear, for clothes are the outward indication of the care you take in doing or caring for things, or of thrift in getting full measure for the money you spend, and most important, it shows how well you esteem yourself by the care you take of your appearance—and as you deem yourself so will others regard you and judge you.

When Printzess Suits are as moderately priced as you will find here, you can well afford to dress in a manner to satisfy every craving of righteous pride.
